Application: Software Developer

To whom this may Concern,

I am writing to you in regards to the Software Developer Intern opportunity at Konrad Group.

I am a Web Developer based in Toronto and I am very interested in joining the team at Konrad and contribute to your company's further growth. I am a developer with a solid understanding of UX and UI design and would love the change to be part of to your team.

My background in Multimedia Design and Development gives me the ability to effectively communicate and collaborate alongside designers as well as developers which is a great advantage in this field and, I believe, vital for great developers. I also constantly advanced my knowledge and skills within UX design, UI design, and Web Development and work with the latest software, stay up to date with cutting-edge technologies, UX trends, and best practices to ensure outstanding results.

Currently, I am enrolled in the full-stack masterclass at Juno College (formerly HackYou) to further expand my skillset within the backend development environment. Furthermore, During my internship as a Web Developer at Humber College, I gained experience in backend-development with NodeJS and under the mentorship of the MMDD program coordinator Robert Blain, I contributed to the development of the Humber Gradshow web application, for which I received Top Developer Award of the MMDD program. Currently,
